SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

Wavier of Trademark Rule 2.76(a)

Trademark Rule 2.76(a) now provides that an intent-to-use application under Section 1(b) of the Trademark Act may be amended to allege use of the mark in commerce, under Section 1(c) of the Act, at any time between the filing date of the application and either (1) the date the examining attorney approves the mark for publication or (2) the date of the expiration of the six-month period after issuance of a final refusal. Thus, if the examining attorney issues a final refusal and the applicant files an appeal to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board six months thereafter, any amendment to allege use filed subsequently is considered untimely.

The Patent and Trademark Office has now had several years' experience with intent-to-use applications and with the filing of amendments to allege use and has had an opportunity to observe the effect of this rule in connection with the appeal process. We have found that the strict time limit set by the rule has forced some applicants to pursue appeals that might otherwise have been dismissed as moot. Thus, a Section 1(b) intent-to-use applicant cannot under the present rule, obtain a remand of its application from the Board to the examining attorney to allow consideration of an amendment to the Supplememtal Register or a claim of acquired distinctiveness under Section 2(f). Even though such a remand is likely to lead to registration or to publication of the mark for oppostion the Board may not grant the request for remand unless the applicant filed an amendment to allege use before the expiration of the six-months response period after issuance of the final refusal. The Board is unable to grant remand, because use of the mark is a prerequisite to registration on the Supplemental Register and Rule 2.76(a) precludes the applicant from filing an amendment to allege use. The same result would follow where an intent-to-use applicant sought to assert acquired distinctiveness under Section 2(f). Because the Board has no discretion to remand applications in such situations, the rule has worked to delay or frustrate the registration process.

Accordingly, application of Rule 2.76(a) is hereby waived, in pertinent part, to eliminate the time limit during which an amendment to allege use may be filed after the examining attorney's final refusal to register. It should be noted that, although an amendment to allege use will now be considered timely even if filed during the pendency of an ex parte appeal, the Board retains jurisdiction over the application once an appeal is filed. The Board may, in its discretion, suspend action on the appeal and remand the application to the examining attorney for consideration of the amendment to the allege use; or it may continue action on the appeal, thus deferring examination of the amendment to allege use until after disposition of the appeal.

The Patent and Trademark Office will, in due course, publish a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend Trademark Rule 2.76(a).

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PDTLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM systems that prelminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

Request for Comments on Intellectual Property Issues Involved in the National Information Infrastructure Initiative

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of hearing and request for public comments
Summary: The Working Group on Intellectual Property of the Information Policy Committee of the National Information Infrastructure (NII) Task Force is developing proposals for protecting works disseminated via the National Information Infrastructure from unauthorized use. To ensure that the Working Group's proposals are based on the views of all interested parties, the Working Group will hold a hearing on the intellectual property issues involved in the National Information Infrastructure initiative. Written comments may also be submitted.
Dates: The public hearing will be held on Nov. 18, 1993, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Requests to attend the hearing or to present oral testimony at the hearing should be received on or before Nov. 8, 1993. All other written comments are due on or before Dec. 10, 1993.

Southwick, Attorney-Advisor, Office of Legislation and International Affairs. Written comments and a transcript of the hearing will be made available for public inspection in Room 902 of Crystal Park Two, 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Va.
For Further Information Contact: Terri A. Southwick by telephone at (703) 305-9300 or by telefax at (703) 305-8885 or by mail marked to her attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The National Information Infrastructure is a system of high-speed telecommunications networks, databases, and advanced computer systems that will make electronic information and entertainment products more widely available and accessible to the public than ever before. This increased availability and accessibility will dramatically affect the way information and entertainment products are created, marketed and delivered throughout the world. Consequently, the commercial viability of the NII hinges not only upon effectively promoting and encouraging use of the NII by all types of users, but also on implementing standards and policies for the Nii in a manner that assures that the owners of products disseminated through the NII retain sufficient control over these products to prevent unauthorized use. In this regard, it is essential that the public and private sectors collaborate to ensure that the interests of owners and users of intellectual property are adequately considered in any standards and policies that are established.

On Feb. 22, 1993, the President announced his plan to create a White House Information Infrastructure Task Force (IITF) to work with Congress and the private sector to develop comprehensive telecommunications and information policies aimed at articulating and implementing the Administrations's vision for the NII. The IITF is chaired by the Secretary of Commerce and consists of three committees—the Telecommunications Policy Committee, the Information Policy Committee, and the Applications Committee. Within the Information Policy Committee there are three working groups—The Working Group on Intellectual Property Rights, the Working Group on Privacy, and the Working Group on Federal Information.

The Working Group on Intellectual Property Rights, which is chaired by the Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, was established to resolve issues of concern to copyright and other intellectual property owners regarding the distribution of their works via the NII. The Working Group's mission is to help develop the NII in a manner that will ensure the integrity of intellectual property rights, make the wealth of information and entertainment products more widely available and accessible than ever before, and provide economic incentives to intellectual property rights owners so that they will make their products available through the NII.

The Working Group solicits testimony and written comments addressing one or more of the following issues:

™Is the existing copyright law adequate to protect the rights of those who will make their works available via the NII? What statutory or regulatory changes, if any, should be made?

™Do the existing fair use provisions of the copyright law adequately accommodate the interests of users of the works available via the NII? What statutory or regulatory changes, if any, should be made?

™Should standards or other requirements be adopted for the labeling or encoding of works available via the NII so that copyright owners and users can identify copyrighted works and the conditions for their use?

™Should standards be established to encourage or require the intercommunication or exchange of information and the interoperability of the different types of computer software and systems supporting or utilizing the NII?

™Should a licensing system be developed for certain uses of any or all works available via the NII? If so, should there be a single type of licensing or should the NII support a multiplicity of licensing systems?

™Are their technical means for preventing unauthorized reproduction or other unauthorized uses of copyrighted works that should be mandated or required to comply with certain standards (similar to the serial copying controls required in digital audio recording devices and digital audio interface devices under the Audio Home Recording Act od 1992)?

™What types of educational programs might be developed to increase public awareness of intellectual property laws, their importance to the economy, and their application to works available via the NII?

The public is invited to submit written comments, and any appropriate supporting material, on the issues set forth above or any related issues. Those submitting comments must include their name and or professional affiliation.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PDTLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM systems that prelminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

MARKS PUBLISHED FOR OPPOSITION

The following marks are published in compliance with section 12(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946. Applications for the registration of marks in more than one class have been filed as provided in section 30 of said act as amended by Public Law 772, 87th Congress, approved Oct. 9, 1962, 76 Stat. 769. Opposition under section 13 may be filed within thirty days of the date of this publication. See rules 2.101 to 2.105.

A separate fee of two hundred dollars for opposing each mark in each class must accompany the opposition.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
